5 file at deadline for Madison, Southwestern school boards

BY BOB DEMAREE
Five candidates beat Thursday's noon deadline to file for non-partisan school board races for Madison Consolidated and Southwestern Jefferson County schools.

Filing for school board began on May 21, but all but one candidate waited until Thursday to enter the race — two for Madison school board and three for Southwestern school board. Even with the new filings, there's one district with no candidate for Southwestern school board — Hanover Township for precincts Hanover 1 or Hanover 3.

New filings for Madison school board District 1 include Dustin Bentz and Tanya Burnette who join David Storie who had previously filed. With three candidates in the running, the top two vote-getters will be elected. District 1 includes precincts Graham, Lancaster, Milton, Monroe, Shelby Townships, and Madison Township 1, 2, 3.

New filings for Southwestern school board in Republican Township include Jennifer Burgett, Tina Hardy and Jonathon Simpson with one being elected. Storie, initially elected in 2020, is an incumbent serving his first term on the Madison school board for District 1. The other current District 1 school board member, Brian Armbrecht, was appointed in June of last year to complete the unexpired term of Jay Roney after Roney resigned to become the school corpora-

Grant moves VMI closer to investment in trolleys for tourism

BY BOB DEMAREE
The Visit Madison Inc. effort to solidify improved trolley services in the City of Madison got a boost on Thursday when VMI was announced as recipient of a $50,000 Hometown Grant from T-Mobile.

"Trolleys have been a part of Madison for a long time, and thanks to T-Mobile's support I am confident they will continue to be a part of Madison for the future," said VMI Executive Director Andrew Forrester. "I am ecstatic about the opportunity that the trolley provides for our residents and visitors to enjoy all that Madison has to offer."

Currently two trolleys operated in Madison — one built in 1982 and other in 1983 — that have been transporting tourists and locals in the city for approximately 40 years. Ownership of the trolleys has changed over the years but the current owners are Dave and Kay Lou Adams.

"Dave has taken really good care" of the trolleys "and have gotten as much out of them as he can," said Forrester. "He's done a lot of investment, and that's a credit to Dave to keep them going as long as he has, but we also know we need to have something a little different and more reliable in order to really make this something for Madison."

Forrester estimates that a new trolley will cost approximately $150,000, and plans to use the T-Mobile grant as "seed money to get the process started." He said having a newer trolley would help ensure that Madison will continue to provide trolley services in the future with plans to seek additional funding.

How the trolleys will be managed is uncertain at this time. Forrester said "whether this will be Visit Madison owning them, or it's going to be a partnership," is a matter to still be determined, along with whether a new or used trolley will be purchased.

However, he said T-Mobile requires that grant recipients complete their projects within 12 months of receiving funding, but Forrester doesn't think that will be an issue. "I don't see an issue with getting that accomplished," he said.

Milton Commission votes to let state decide medical marijuana licensing

City officials reject Sunday alcohol sales

BY TAYLOR WILLIAMS
PAXTON MEDIA GROUP

Milton City Commission has opted to take no action regarding allowing or disallowing medical marijuana dispensaries in the city. The decision to not impact implementation of the new state law was made during the commission's regular meeting on June 13.

A discussion on medical cannabis was introduced during the commission's meeting in May by City Clerk/Treasurer Angela Dunaway, noting that the commission could choose to either allow cannabis dispensaries, prohibit them, disregard the issue entirely or place the issue on a referendum and let voters decide the matter.

The commissioners tabled the matter at that time for additional study. The decision now to take no action means that cannabis dispensaries will be a state issue in terms of Milton.

Dunaway said while the new state law doesn't go into effect until Jan. 1, 2025, applications are currently being prepared for cannabis dispensaries since Kentucky Gov. Andy Beshear signed an order allowing applications to be filed beginning on July 1.

Since the May meeting, Dunaway, Commissioner Troy Alexander and Mayor Denny Jackson attended an online training seminar by the Kentucky League of Cities to gather additional information on the medical cannabis program.

"It was a very informative meeting," Jackson said, adding that after attending the seminar, she realized that the issue may not be as urgent for Milton to decide as initially thought.

Hanover parents arrested for injuries to 5-month-old infant

BY THE COURIER STAFF

The parents of a five-month-old infant were arrested Tuesday, June 11, after an investigation into injuries the child sustained while in the parents’ care.

The investigation began on May 15 when Indiana State Police Investigators responded to Norton Children’s Hospital in Louisville after the female child was transported to the hospital from Jefferson County with suspicious injuries.

The initial investigation indicated that the child was allegedly in the custody of the mother, Makayla Brooke Turner, 24, and father, Skyler Austin Hoffman-Jenkins, 28, both of Hanover, at the time the child suffered the injuries.

At the conclusion of the investigation, the case was presented to the Jefferson County Prosecutor’s Office which obtained warrants issued for the arrest of both parents on six felony counts each related to battery on a child under the age of 14 with bodily injury and neglect of a dependent.

Both suspects were arrested last week without incident and were transported to the Jefferson County Jail where they were incarcerated pending initial court appearances.

Both posted $10,000 cash bond each and were released from the jail on June 12, under a court order to have no contact with the victim. Initial hearings have been scheduled for June 24.

The Indiana Department of Child Services and Norton Children’s Hospital assisted in the investigation.

OBITUARIES

Phyllis Faye Scott Lappie

Phyllis Faye Scott Lappie, age 77 of Brooksbury, IN, was born on October 7, 1946, in Switzerland County, IN, on Vernon Ridge. The second oldest child of seven children, she was the loving daughter of the late Robert Howard and Cleo Patra McIntyre Scott. Phyllis never moved far away, making her home in Jefferson County near Brooksbury, IN. She loved her home and farm and worked tirelessly to help provide for her family. She was always generous with her friends, sharing her garden and help when needed. She kept an impeccable yard. According to her brother David, "She could see a stray blade of grass a mile away." After her children were grown, she went back to school at Spencerian College in Louisville, KY, where she earned her degree as a licensed practical nurse and began her career in nursing at the Madison State Hospital. She retired in 2005, after 19 years of service. Phyllis had a great sense of humor and used that trait to always look at the positive side of things. She loved gardening, cooking, baking and reading, as well as the challenge of board games, cards, and dice. Favorite past-times included jigsaw puzzles and shopping, particularly at small consignment shops and antique stores. She filled her home with Americana, all things sheep and roosters as well. She provided the feral cat population with food and shelter, calling them "porch cats". She adopted a dog, "Princess", who provided her with lots of love and aggravation and will miss her sense of humor. A big thank you goes out to Hospice associates for their knowledge and support during her final days. She is at peace. Phyllis passed away on Monday, May 27, 2024, at 11:55 p.m. surrounded by her family and friends at the home of her daughter in Madison, IN. TODAY IN HISTORY

Today's Highlight in History: On June 21, 1788, the United States Constitution went into effect as New Hampshire became the ninth state to ratify it.

On this date:

- In 1377, King Edward III died after ruling England for 50 years; he was succeeded by his grandson, Richard II.
- In 1834, Cyrus Hall McCormick received a patent for his reaping machine.
- In 1942, an Imperial Japanese submarine fired shells at Fort Stevens on the Oregon coast, causing little damage.
- In 1954, the American Cancer Society presented a study to the American Medical Association meeting in San Francisco which found that men who regularly smoked cigarettes died at a considerably higher rate than non-smokers.
- In 1964, civil rights workers Michael H. Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James E. Chaney were slain in Philadelphia, Mississippi; their bodies were found buried in an earthen dam six weeks later. VMI preparing for return of riverboats in Madison next month

BY BOB DEMAREE

Plans are underway for the return of riverboats to Madison and Visit Madison Inc. Executive Director Andrew Forrester provided an update at Monday's meeting of the Jefferson County Board of Tourism.

On July 19, the American Melody Riverboat and American Heritage Paddle-wheeler will both be coming to Madison. "It's exciting and we're going to try to roll out the red carpet for that day," said Forrester.

Following the bankruptcy of the American Queen Voyages (AQV), there was concern that riverboats might not be stopping in Madison this summer. But the entire AQV fleet was purchased by American Cruise Lines, which will now be bringing two boats to Madison on July 19 with the American Heritage making solo stops on Aug. 2, 16 and 30.

"We are already starting to have communication with them about 2025 dates as well," said Forrester.

JCBT vice president Victoria Perry, who also serves as general manager of the Eagle Cotton Mill Fairfield Inn and Suites by Marriott, asked if people in Madison will be able to visit the boats while they dock. "I have a lot of guests that ask, 'How can I get on the boat?' ... and it would be nice if they could get on" the riverboats when they dock in Madison.

Forrester said the riverboats that come to Madison are bound by laws adopted after Sept. 11, 2001. "They used to let people on to tour the boats; they aren't able to do that any more," he said.

Forrester said he has reached out to paddlewheel companies in Louisville and Cincinnati about coming to Madison for evening cruises. "All of them have said they aren't interested right now" but he is hopeful that can happen at some point.

Forrester said he has been told that several years ago the Belle of Louisville and Belle of Cincinnati would come to Madison every two or three years to provide sunset cruises in the evenings. "Cost of fuel right now is a deterrent for them. Staffing is a deterrent for them as well, pulling them away from a place they've got their pattern set up ... To put on a special trip, I don't think it's priority for them right now. I will keep working on it. I know it's a need," he said.

In other business:

- Perry provided an update on a meeting concerning the innkeeper's tax increase that included Perry, JCBT president Trevor Crafton and board member Jim Bartlett as well as Madison Mayor Bob Courtney, County Council President Heather Foy and Forrester. Indiana General Assembly approved increasing the rate from 5% to 8% — the first hike since 1987. She said it will be proposed at County Council's Tuesday, July 16 meeting to adopt the 8% increase.

Perry said an implementation day of Jan. 1, 2025 will be requested following a meeting with local hoteliers who noted that making the change at the start of the new year would provide them an easier transition. "It didn't seem that anyone was opposed so hopefully it will be a smooth transition," she said.

- With the next round of community partnership grants coming in August, Perry said she will be working towards getting grant application information together in the next two weeks so organizations can begin the application process.

Madison approves liquor license for Vintage Lanes project

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison City Council on Tuesday approved issuing one of the city’s remaining Riverfront Liquor Licenses to the Vintage Lanes entertainment complex being developed by Matt and Daniel Chandler, owners of The Chandler Hotel.

Vintage Lanes will offer Duckpin bowling in the building at 301 Jefferson Street and an adjoining warehouse on Second Street that formerly housed Carlson Art & Sign.

The structure will include two levels of Duckpin bowling lanes, a wine bar and a rooftop patio and will also serve food and other beverages. Speaking on the application, Daniel Chandler described the business as a family event center and noted there will be areas accessible for families with underage patrons.

Chandler said Duckpin bowling is a less widespread version of bowling than ten-pin bowling and is done on shorter lanes, with smaller pins and balls and that no special shoes are required. He described it as a more family friendly version of bowling due to the reduced size of the facilities and equipment and that the current Duckpin facilities closest to Madison are in Cincinnati and Indianapolis so Madison will be somewhat unique for having a facility.

The Chandlers have been business owners in Madison since renovating a former newspaper warehouse on Second Street into their boutique hotel last year, a project that they have sunk more than $1 million into and been met with success in terms of guest bookings. They are using the same renovation contractor, former Madison building inspector Brian Martin, on the bowling center and wine bar project and intend to embrace the historic appeal of the structure much like in their hotel. The business would open in late fall at best and possible early 2025.

When completed, the bowling center and wine bar will give the Chandlers two major business renovations on the Second Street corridor that the city has targeted — along with Mulberry Street — to become a focus point for historic renewal and activity in downtown Madison with new streets, sidewalks, curbs and crosswalks being installed as well as investment in public parks such as the Kindness Mural along with private investment like the Chandlers and a new DG Market grocery that expects to open later this year.

“I think this brings a lot to this Second Street corridor,” said Councilman Jim Bartlett.

According to Emily McKinney, the city’s Associate Director of Economic Development, the bowling/wine bar project met all requirements for a liquor license.

One issue that was raised was parking and how much parking will the business need and where will it come from. Chandler noted that there is usually quite a bit of parking on Jefferson Street as well as two city lots, one across from the facility and the other in behind.

Noting the amount of nearby parking, Councilman Patrick Thevenow, said he thought the building was a “good location” for the project.

The council voted 5-0 in favor of the application with Council members Lucy Dattilo and Josh Wilber absent.

In other business:

- The council reapproved 2024 tax abatements for five economic developments that are now doing business in Madison including: Grote Industries, US Premier Tube, Vehicle Service Group, Fairfield Inn & Suites (Cotton Mill), Riverside Tower Lofts, and Trilogy Riverside Terrace.

- Approved an ordinance creating an Indiana Destination Development Corporation Control Fund to receive grant money that will fund projects like the city’s gateway sculpture project and other public art in the future.

- Heard concerns from Lisa Ferguson about the lack of sidewalks extending to the new Crystal Beach Aquatic Park from nearby parking areas and on some streets. She commended the city’s investment in the new pool and noted the area “has a lot going on” but the city should be asking “what can you do to make the area safer.”

Deputy Mayor Mindy McGee said new sidewalks were constructed on Broadway after being included in the project at great cost.

Mayor Bob Courtney said pedestrians would have no issue with sidewalks to the pool if they will follow the “preferred” route as developed by the city but that many residents opt for the shortest route.

“There are safe ways to get where you’re going but it may not be the shortest route,” said Courtney.

Ferguson said if better sidewalks can not be provided then maybe the city should provide crosswalks for pedestrians trying to get to the safer sidewalks. She noted that crosswalks might serve as a visual path for the pedestrians and a caution for motorists.

- After the meeting Courtney explained that Thursday night’s special Plan Commission meeting will be to consider applications by Cedar Holdco, LLC, to rezone about 1,000 acres on Madison’s hilltop for a $150 million solar farm project the owners of a previously approved battery storage farm are seeking to develop.

The property, six parcels all located in the county but with some of the property within Madison’s 5-mile buffer zone, will need both city and county Plan approval.

The developer is asking that the land, currently zoned Low Density Residential or Residential Agriculture, be rezoned Agriculture. Unlike the two existing zoning classifications, solar farming is an approved use of property zoned Agriculture.

Hanover continues cleanup of nuisance violations

BY BOB DEMAREE

Hanover Building Inspector/Ordinance Officer Don Williams updated members of Hanover Town Council at Tuesday’s meeting on progress to clean up nuisance properties in the community.

Williams said there were 42 contacts on ordinance violations over the last month with 176 total contacts since he began working as ordinance officer in February. He said 156 have been totally resolved in that “people have done what we asked them to do” while remain 20 open violations. If that number 12 are automobile-related to “unlicensed, expired license or they are wrecks that nobody wanted to cover or do anything with,” he said.

He said there was some success with one apartment complex that had three vehicles with one lacking any plates and other two filled with trash and expired license tags.

“I tracked down the lady who is supposed to be the manager in Louisville, called her, and she said our lease is very explicit, it says they have to be current and insured. She said send me a picture and they will be removed.” Williams sent the picture, and they were removed the next day.

Williams said he is also dealing with a house on Greenbriar Road that the Sheriff’s Department received a call last week concerning loud music, noise from a generator running all night and children screaming. “The kids are living in the shed” behind the recreational vehicle (RV), and the parents are living in the RV,” he said.

Williams said he told the occupants that they cannot reside in the RV and that the children cannot be living in the shed. He said he had talked to a person who talked to the children and confirmed they are living in the shed which has no bathroom and they “have to knock on the door of the RV to go in to use the bathroom.”

“This is an unhealthy situation,” Williams said.

Town Marshal Shane Caldwell asked for guidance in resolving the situation. “We just need to know how we can proceed with it instead of just giving them warnings,” Caldwell said.

Williams also asked for guidance about a house on November Street that burned and has since been left in that condition. “There are young kids that live right next door to it,” he said, adding that he believes the burned out structure is a safety hazard.

There was also an update on the ducks complaint on Hickory Drive where a property owner had 30 to 40 ducks that fly into neighbors’ yards. Caldwell said the owner has had the wings clipped on the ducks, and even some wings removed. Indiana Code 15-17-18-8 states “a person responsible for livestock or poultry who knowingly or intentionally permits the livestock or poultry to run at large commits a Class B misdemeanor.”

Overall, Williams said good feedback is being received from town residents about the progress that is being made. “I’ve had residents say that they can tell a difference and that Hanover is getting better.”

In other business:

- Approved two payments to Mac Construction for the town’s sewer project with Hanover College which should be the last payments due to the contractor — one for $233,719 and another for $77,791. Also, a payment of $28,410.44 was approved to Wessler Engineering. There remains $112,000 left in the contingency fund for the project which the town plans to use for slip lining at Hanover Beach to protect structural integrity of the pipeline.

- Approved an ordinance to allow transfers in several funds totaling $5,900 — most of which will fund summer staffing at the park to support baseball and softball leagues.

- Park committee chair Don Server updated that striping for four pickleball courts have been added to the tennis courts at Hanover Community Park. Last month the town council had approved spending $1,500 from the park equipment fund for pickleball nets but after the nets cost $1,800, the council approved an additional $300 at Tuesday’s meeting.

- Town council president Debbie Kroger suggested the town begin considering replacing the fence at the town garage. “It’s down in some places, it’s rusty and needs to be replaced,” she said, suggesting they look for grant opportunities.

City announces launch of new garbage collection containers

BY THE COURIER STAFF

The City of Madison has announced the rollout of its new garbage collection containers as part of the Transfer Station Operations Modernization Plan that will commence by Oct. 1.

This initiative will eliminate trash bags and loose items from the curb while reducing employee injuries caused by hazards such as heavy lifting and sharp objects.

“We are dedicated to maintaining a clean, safe, and beautiful community for all residents. Through initiatives like the Transfer Station Operations Modernization Plan, the city continues to improve services and infrastructure, enhancing the quality of life for its citizens,” said Madison Mayor Bob Courtney.

The city will provide new containers at no additional cost, delivering them directly to each property. Each container will feature a barcode identifying the property address.

The city will also handle the disposal of old or non-compatible containers. The new garbage collection containers come with several key features designed to improve convenience and efficiency.

Containers are available in 95-, 65-, and 35-gallon sizes, allowing property owners to select the size that best meets their needs, with a short trial period to make adjustments if necessary. Each container includes a 10-year warranty, ensuring durability. In case of damage outside the warranty, loss, or theft, property owners can obtain a replacement at their own expense.

Additionally, property owners can request more than one container for an additional cost of $20 per month per container. To select a preferred container size, please visit madison-in.gov/selectmycart.

For those unable to access the site, please call the City Street Department at 812-265-8304 or pick up a form at City Hall, 101 West Main Street. The selection site will be open until July 31.

Property owners can keep their current container if it is compatible with city garbage trucks, meaning it must have a lift bar and be no larger than 96 gallons. To do so, they must notify the City Street Department at 812-265-8304 to receive a compatibility sticker.

The city’s recycling program will remain unchanged, and current recycling containers can continue to be used.

Trimble to allocate funds from insurance tax to fire departments

BY CINDY WARRICK
PAXTON MEDIA GROUP

Trimble County Fiscal Court on Monday adopted a proposal to allocate money from the county’s tax on insurance policies to the county’s two volunteer fire departments.

The fire funding proposal adopted will require no new taxes, but allocate 2% of the 10% the county already collects with the county’s Insurance Tax — the tax on insurance policies for vehicles, boats, equipment, businesses, homes, and other types of insurances — with that money to be divided among the Bedford and Milton volunteer fire departments based on the size of their service areas.

Based on the number of property parcels in each district, Bedford would receive 54% of the revenue generated by the tax while Milton would receive 46%. According to current insurance tax collections, the amount Bedford would receive would be approximately $154,000 while Milton would get $125,000.

The court also stressed that the funding allocation to the fire departments is considered auxiliary funding and would not do away with the need for Bedford and Milton to continue receiving fire subscriptions from property owners and/or donations from the cities of Bedford and Milton to their fire departments.

The fire funding assistance plan adopted will begin on July 1, 2024.

Discussion to ensure this funding continues to be available is being negotiated by Fiscal Court and will include accountability requirements by the fire departments such as providing quarterly financial reports and meeting minutes as well as the annual reports they currently provide.

Fiscal Court also took action to approve paving projects totaling $1,120,984 for portions of 18 county roads throughout the county.

The bid was awarded to Wingham Paving and includes paving for each section of roadway that was listed on the county’s bid sheet.

The roads include: Cooper’s Bottom Road, Powell Hill Road, Buchanan

Lane, Joyce Mills Road, Logan Lane Extension, Logan Lane, Thorn Hill Road, Court Lane, South Campbell Lane, East McKinney Road, Wood Lawn Road, Megan Square, Megan Lane, Ridge Top Road, Culls Ridge Road, Summerfield Court, Loudon Lane and Martini Lane.

“We have the budget to do all the proposed roads and I think we should do them all,” said Magistrate Chris Liter.

In other business:

- Approved a request by Crystal Heinz, president of Bedford Rotary Club, for $500 to register the county for a booth at this year’s Kentucky State Fair.

Bedford Rotary is coordinating Trimble’s booth at the fair, which is Kentucky State Fair’s 120th year with the theme “120 Counties, 120 Years.” She said Trimble’s booth will have a theme “the old and the new,” and residents with historical documents or small items that could be loaned to support that theme are asked to contact Bedford Rotary Club.

— Michaela Birnbaum, Solid Waste Management director, reported on the recycling grant the county has received to fund the site, building, and infrastructure to launch a county recycling program. The site is currently in the construction phase and ideas to encourage residents to participate in recycling are being developed to insure that implementation of the grant and program is successful.

— Heinz, who is also the County Attorney, reminded the Court that implementation of Kentucky’s new Medical Marijuana law will begin on Jan. 1, 2025, and urged the Court to begin thinking about how they would like to proceed as a county.

She said there are three ways to implement policies on cannabis dispensaries: Vote not allow them in the county, put the issue on the ballot as a county-wide referendum decided by the voters, or to nothing and let the state law govern implementation in Trimble County.

The next fiscal court meeting is 6:30 p.m. on Monday, July 1.

She presented information from that meeting to the entire commission indicating there will be 11 dispensary regions in the state and where the licenses will be given.
Milton is located in “the extreme northeast point” of its region which includes Trimble, Henry, Oldham, Shelby, Jefferson, Bullitt, and Spencer counties. “They’d probably be looking more at like Shelby or Oldham or something like that,” Dunaway said.
“I don’t think we’d have to worry about ever getting anybody coming in here to sell it.” Alexander said.
Dunaway explained to the commission that if they do nothing now and the citizens decide they don’t want a local dispensary, the commission can still enact an ordinance banning the dispensary and its business. “It’s on the dispensary to be where they’re wanted and where it’s legal for them to be,” she said.
Alexander also added that dispensaries will only be allowed to sell medical cannabis in a chewable form and that marijuana that is consumed by smoking will not be included.
Dunaway also presented information on initial license availability for businesses showing four different tiers of cultivators that can be issued. The first tier can have 10 licenses, the second tier four, the third tier two, and the fourth tier none.

The information also included details on licenses for processors and dispensary outlets in the 11 regions, as well as safety compliance facilities. Processors will receive 10 licenses, regions will have 48 dispensaries, but there will be no limitations on licenses for safety compliance facilities.
In other matters, the commission held the first reading of an amendment to the city’s alcohol sales ordinance related to the hours alcoholic beverages can be sold in Milton.
Under the proposed ordinance, there would be new hours established for alcohol sales including 6 a.m. to midnight Monday through Saturday and 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Sundays.
Dunaway said the issue was raised when Alcohol Beverage Control Coordinator Tara Kelton noted that Milton’s ordinance only addressed sales Monday through Saturday, much like the city of Bedford’s ordinance had originally specified. Milton’s ordinance is closely based on Bedford’s ordinance, which later added Sunday sales.
Kelton found out that a package liquor store in downtown Milton was holding Sunday sales even though the city’s ordinance did not address Sunday sales. The store was ordered to cease Sunday sales until the ordinance can be amended allowing Sunday sales.

The commission quickly held a second reading on the proposed ordinance amendment during a special meeting on Monday, June 17. However, after that reading, all commissioners and the mayor voted to reject the ordinance, killing Sunday sales all together.
In other business:
• The commission was scheduled to authorize the mayor to enter into an contract with attorney Joanne Pyc to continue representing the city as its attorney. However, Jackson announced that Pyc, who was absent from the regular meeting on June 13, has decided to resign as city attorney for both Milton and Bedford.
“She’s got a lot of things on her plate right now,” Jackson said. “She has other things she wants to do and she wants us to have a chance to talk about her replacement.”
He said Pyc is willing to serve on a monthly basis as needed until the cities can find her replacement.
Dunaway said she would contact other city clerks to see what other municipalities are doing for legal representation to perhaps come up with a solution for Milton.
The commission’s next regular meeting, originally scheduled for July 11, will now be a special meeting on July 18 at 7 p.m.

TROLLEYS

“We’ve got some details to work out but it’s a great opportunity for Madison as we’re trying to get this funding together, I couldn’t resist applying” for the grant.
Last fall, VMI had a trial run on offering wider availability of trolleys for tours and rides. Forrester said response to that trial showed just “how important they are for tourism. It’s not just the rides, it’s getting people to and from conferences, it’s getting people to and from weddings.”
He noted that weddings are an event that people may not think of as tourism “but that’s a segment of tourism that’s called visiting friends and relatives. We have a lot of people coming to Madison to join family members for reunions or weddings, and the trolley is an important part of that function.”

In addition, the scenic beauty of Madison, makes the city destination location for special events and the trolley’s provide a great way to see the city and all it has to offer.
Forrester said he actually applied for the trolley grant last fall, but VMI wasn’t selected. He applied again in March and this time received the $50,000 grant. He doesn’t know what specifically made the grant successful this time, but being able to include results from the successful trolley trial last fall may have been the difference. “This time I was able to take what we learned ... whether this grant was a direct result of the statistics and evidence from the trial I don’t know but I don’t think it hurt the application.”

There will be a grant celebration during the Music in the Park event at Bicentennial Park on Friday, July 12 at 6 p.m.
Each quarter, T-Mobile awards 25 Hometown Grants to small towns with populations of 50,000 or less. T-Mobile’s Hometown Grant is part of a five-year $25 million commitment to small towns that began in April 2021 for awards of up to $50,000 to 500 rural towns. So far, T-Mobile has provided more than $13 million in Hometown grants.

The Best Kept Secret in the Financial World

Layin’ it on the line

By Stephen Dybwad Retirement Planning/Wealth Management

Risk-Averse Investing

The investing world thrives on the allure of unpredictability, but as history has shown us, unpredictability often leads to a repeating pattern—bubble, crash, bubble, crash. This cycle has been in a loop since 1995, punctuated by higher highs and slightly lower lows. With significant market drops slicing portfolios in half twice in the last 12 years, the age-old principle of “past performance is not indicative of future results” feels almost ironic.
The calculus of portfolio recovery is often underestimated. For instance, if you’ve invested $100,000 and faced a 50% loss, you’re left with $50,000. To recover, you’ll need a 100% return, not 50%, to reclaim your initial investment. This uphill battle makes a case for avoiding another rollercoaster, particularly with funds you can’t afford to lose again. The prudent approach is to allocate a part of your investment into financial vehicles designed to offer consistent returns and security, especially when contemplating long-term goals like retirement.
For those not sitting on an endless pile of wealth, figuring out a sustainable income stream for retirement is crucial. Traditionally, brokers have fixated on equity markets for capital gains, often overlooking other mechanisms to safeguard and grow your retirement nest egg. But today, innovative income-generating strategies are emerging that promise more income and less exposure to market volatility.

Foundational income retirement planning is gradually taking center stage as an integral component of a holistic financial strategy. Once people on the brink of retirement, or those recently retired, understand its vital role, they’ll likely prioritize it as the cornerstone to build their diversified retirement portfolios. This allows for a more balanced approach between risk and security, tailored to individual needs and circumstances.
So, it’s time to ask some vital questions:
How long do you want your money to last?
Do you currently have money at risk, or is it safely guaranteed?
Are you looking for a guaranteed income plan?
Would you prefer a lifetime income plan with flexibility for additional money if needed?
Do you want a guaranteed income for life, with any remaining balance paid 100% to your beneficiaries?
A secure retirement usually mandates maintaining guaranteed cash values and setting up guaranteed income for life. Our approach, which has resulted in 100% client satisfaction, is hinged on offering income certainty, irrespective of market conditions or life expectancy. Our strategies are robust and flexible enough to address challenges in the critical planning phase of securing retirement income for life.
So why should you contact us? Here are three compelling reasons:
Income Certainty: Learn how we can supplement your retirement income in a guaranteed way, which often comes with higher benefits than more volatile, risk-associated plans.

Le3gacy Planning: Ensure your loved ones have a continued income after your lifetime, enhancing their financial security.
Safety Net: Mitigate the impact of other poorly performing investments by allocating some of your funds into a safe financial vehicle.
The unpredictability of stock markets is not a certainty you have to accept. You can adopt a more secure, risk-averse approach, especially when your life’s savings and future comfort are on the line. Welcome to the era of smarter, safer, and more sustainable investing.
The stock market has a cyclical pattern of bubbles and crashes, posing a significant risk to investors, especially those planning for retirement.
Recovering from a 50% loss requires a 100% gain, making it crucial to reconsider keeping all your money in high-risk portfolios.
Innovative income-generating strategies that offer better income with less exposure to market risk are emerging.
Foundational income retirement planning may support a balanced and secure retirement portfolio.
Questions to ask yourself include how long you want your money to last, whether your current investments are guaranteed, and what kind of income plan you desire for retirement.

Southwestern senior Jamison Lewis will play in the IHSBCA North/South All-Star Series this weekend at Huntington University. Lewis, who has signed with DePauw University, is the first Southwestern player to earn the honor.

Southwestern’s Lewis to play in All-Star game

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Jamison Lewis has made history as the first Southwestern Rebel to be named to the Indiana High School Baseball Coaches Association North/South All-Star team and will showcase his skills this weekend at Huntington University.

Lewis is not only the first Southwestern player to earn the honor, he is the first player from Jefferson County to be selected to the team since Madison’s Derek Fisse in 2005. Overall, Madison has had 14 South All-Stars while Shawe has had one, Jared Tukulve in 2001.

Lewis is certainly deserving of the honor. The right-hander, who has signed with DePauw University, went 10-1 on the mound with a 1.58 ERA and 129 strikeouts in 80 innings against just 18 walks. He also hit .435 with two home runs, eight doubles, 22 RBIs and 16 stolen bases. He is Southwestern’s all-time leader in steals and wins.

Lewis will be joined on the South team by several players he has faced off against in competition including Providence’s Luke Kruer, Batesville’s Jack Grunkemeyer, Lawrenceburg’s Nolan McLane, Jennings County’s Austin Byford and Borden’s Alex Schuler.

The 49th Annual IHSBCA North/South All-Star Series will held this weekend. A total of three games will played over Saturday and Sunday with an evening banquet on Saturday night where the Indiana High School Baseball Player of the Year award will be presented.

There will be a doubleheader on Saturday starting at noon and a wooden bat, high school uniform game on Sunday. Admission is $5 to each event.

Southwestern junior Natalie LaRue is the 2024 Madison Courier Girls Tennis Player of the Year.

LaRue rises to top spot to lead Southwestern to regional finals

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

When Southwestern tennis coach Kenny Garrett approached Natalie LaRue about switching from doubles to No. 1 singles, she was game for the challenge but apprehensive. It was a big jump to the top spot, but the Rebel junior was willing to give it a shot for a match.

Little did she know, it would be for the rest of the season.

LaRue’s switch from No. 2 doubles to No. 1 singles was exactly what the Rebels needed, elevating them from a good team to a great one and carrying them to the regional championship game for the first time in school history.

“She and Jocelyn (Johnson) won some nice matches for us (at No. 2 doubles) to get team wins but I felt like I needed to make a change and slide her in that one slot and Ava (Barnes) to one doubles,” Garrett said. “And it certainly paid off.”

LaRue didn’t win a ton of matches at No. 1 singles, but her presence at the top of the lineup changed the make-up of the entire team. Southwestern avenged earlier losses with wins over Scottsburg and Austin to claim the sectional championship and then defeated Bedford North Lawrence in the opening round of the regional before falling to powerhouse Columbus North in the championship. LaRue lost to North’s Kathryn Wilson, the eventual singles state champion.

That team transformation earned LaRue this year’s Madison Courier Girls Tennis Player of the Year honors, the third-straight year that a Southwestern player has claimed the award.

Initially LaRue thought the switch would be for only one match and admits that she was stunned when Garrett told her the move was permanent.

“I was shocked. I was like, ‘Oh, no,’ ” LaRue laughed. “It was actually weird because when he told me before the match, I was like OK, it’s just gonna be that one match. And then he said, ‘You’re gonna play that from now on’ and I was like, ‘Oh, my.’ I was stoked, but like it was a different position.”

LaRue and freshman Jocelyn Johnson had gotten into a good groove at No. 2 doubles but now LaRue needed to learn a new position. All of a sudden, the players were better and faster and she didn’t have a partner on the court to back her up.

LaRue admits that there was a learning curve, but by the end of the season, she had settled into the role admirably.

“It is a hard position. It’s definitely way different and switching in the middle of the season, you could tell the difference from doubles,”

LaRue said. “I always felt confident but sometimes, I’d be down on myself more at one singles because you’re by yourself and at two doubles, I can cheer my partner on and have a good mentality. But both of them are great and it feels the same playing both of them, but they’re definitely just different levels.”

Despite the switch, Garrett knew that LaRue could handle it. If she couldn’t have, he wouldn’t have made the change.

“Natalie had a great season winning some big matches for us,” Garrett said. “She hits the ball extremely hard and that certainly helps at one singles.”

While she hadn’t played No. 1 singles before, LaRue was no stranger to the game of tennis. She has been playing for several years and loves the sport.

“My dad’s actually a tennis coach and he’s been one my whole life. So I’m always around it. I would watch it all the time,” LaRue said. “I’ve been playing since sixth grade and being around tennis all the time and just watching it made me love it even more. So I have really good passion for tennis.”

Southwestern returns all seven starters from its regional runner-up team and expects big things in 2025. Both LaRue and her coach are looking beyond the regional level.

“It’s gonna be a great season next year because some of the matches that we lost, we definitely could have won,” LaRue said. “They were hard at the beginning because everyone was switching around and we’re a really young team, so it was definitely a challenge for us this year. But we’re excited about next year.”

Baseball superstar Mays, ‘The Say Hey Kid,’ dies at 93

BY HILLEL ITALIE
AP NATIONAL WRITER

Willie Mays, the electrifying “Say Hey Kid” whose singular combination of talent, drive and exuberance made him one of baseball’s greatest and most beloved players, has died. He was 93.

Mays’ family and the San Francisco Giants jointly announced Tuesday night he had died earlier in the afternoon in the Bay Area.

“My father has passed away peacefully and among loved ones,” son Michael Mays said in a statement released by the club. “I want to thank you all from the bottom of my broken heart for the unwavering love you have shown him over the years. You have been his life’s blood.”

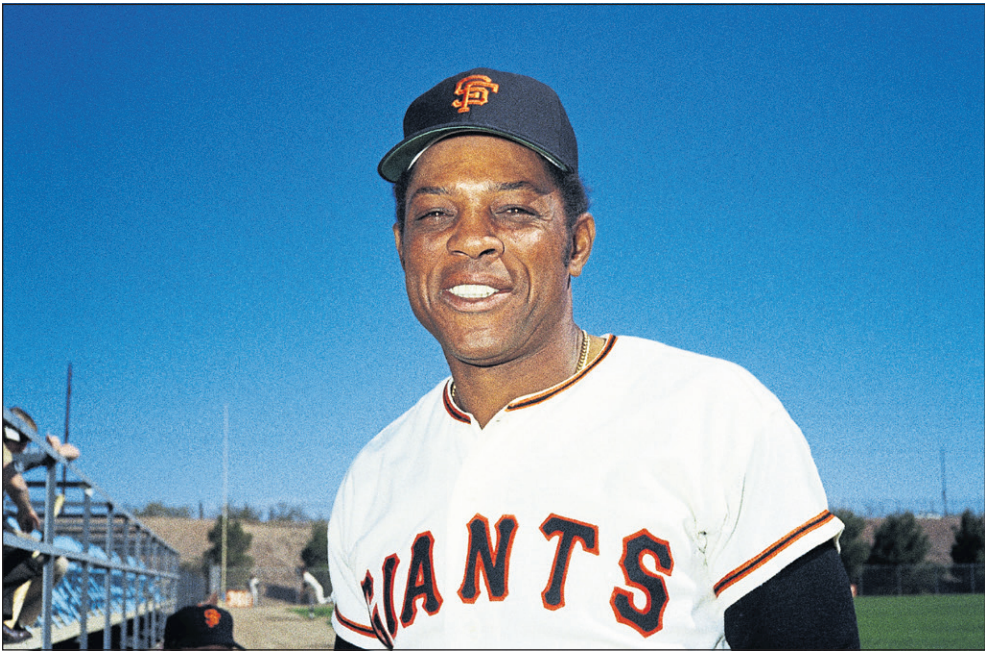

The center fielder, who began his professional career in the Negro Leagues in 1948, had been baseball’s oldest living Hall of Famer. He was voted into the Hall in 1979, his first year of eligibility, and in 1999 followed only Babe Ruth on The Sporting News’ list of the game’s top stars. The Giants retired his uniform number, 24, and set their AT&T Park in San Francisco on Willie Mays Plaza.

Mays died two days before a game between the Giants and St. Louis Cardinals to honor the Negro Leagues at Rickwood Field in Birmingham, Alabama.

“All of Major League Baseball is in mourning today as we are gathered at the very ballpark where a career and a legacy like no other began,” Commissioner Rob Manfred said. “Willie Mays took his all-around brilliance from the Birmingham Black Barons of the Negro American League to the historic Giants franchise. From coast to coast ... Willie inspired generations of players and fans as the game grew and truly earned its place as our National Pastime.”

ously exerted those qualities — whether launching home runs; dashing around the bases, loose-fitting cap flying off his head; or chasing down fly balls in center field and finishing the job with his trademark basket catch.

Over 23 major league seasons, virtually all with the New York/San Francisco Giants but also including one in the Negro Leagues, Mays batted .301, hit 660 home runs, totaled 3,293 hits, scored more than 2,000 runs and won 12 Gold Gloves. He was Rookie of the Year in 1951, twice was named the Most Valuable Player and finished in the top 10 for the MVP 10 other times. His lightning sprint and over-the-shoulder grab of an apparent extra base hit in the 1954 World Series remains the most celebrated defensive play in baseball history.

“When I played ball, I tried to make sure everybody enjoyed what I was doing,” Mays told NPR in 2010. “I made the clubhouse guy fit me a cap that when I ran, the wind gets up in the bottom and it flies right off. People love that kind of stuff.”

For millions in the 1950s and ‘60s and after, the smiling ballplayer with the friendly, high-pitched voice was a signature athlete and showman during an era when baseball was still the signature pastime. Awarded the Medal of Freedom by President Barack Obama in 2015, Mays left his fans with countless memories. But a single feat served to capture his magic — one so untoppleable it was simply called “The Catch.”

Siakam and Pacers agree on $189M, 4-year deal

BY TIM REYNOLDS
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

Pascal Siakam intends to sign a four-year, $189.5 million contract to remain with the Indiana Pacers when the NBA's offseason moratorium is lifted in early July, a person with knowledge of the talks between the sides told The Associated Press on Wednesday.

The person spoke to the AP on condition of anonymity because neither the player nor the club may announce the agreement by league rule. ESPN, citing unnamed sources, was first to report that Siakam decided to remain with the Pacers.

Free agency does not begin until June 30, but this agreement was not in violation of any league rules. Under terms of the new collective bargaining agreement, teams could start speaking to their own free agents one day after the conclusion of the NBA Finals. And the Pacers were clear going into the offseason that retaining Siakam was a top priority, so it was no surprise that they wanted to begin official talks quickly.

"The first very important step is to begin recruiting Pascal Siakam in earnest," Pacers coach Rick Carlisle said a few weeks ago, shortly after the Pacers' season ended. "That will start today with exit meetings. He's a great player. He was tremendous for us."

Siakam — a two-time All-Star and part of the Toronto team that won the 2019 NBA title — would be in line to make about $42 million next season and around $53 million in 2027-28, the final year of the new deal.

The Pacers acquired the 30-year-old power forward in a January trade, and he quickly became a major part of the team that would reach the Eastern Conference finals before falling to eventual NBA champion Boston. Siakam shot 55% from the field and 38% from 3-point range in 41 regular-season games with Indiana this past season.

Counting his time in Toronto, Siakam averaged 21.7 points and 7.1 rebounds this past season. The Pacers will have him and guard Tyrese Haliburton — who is about to enter the start of a $245 million, five-year deal that was agreed upon last summer — as their franchise cornerstones going forward.

Carlisle said he still considered this past season to be Year 2 of a rebuild in Indiana, but he noted that the acquisitions of Siakam and Haliburton (who was traded to Indiana in February 2022) fast-tracked the plan. "The fact that all these pieces fit well together put us in a strong position this year," Carlisle said when the season ended.

CHAMPIONS AGAIN

Celtics win 18th NBA title, dismantling Dallas 106-88

BY KYLE HIGHTOWER

BOSTON — Jayson Tatum put his hands behind his head, with TD Garden fans standing on their feet cheering around him, and took it all in.

Walking to the bench, he wrapped both arms around Celtics coach Joe Mazzulla.

The journey was complete. The Boston Celtics again stand alone among NBA champions.

since Bill Russell in 1969 to lead a team to a championship.

"You have very few chances in life to be great," Mazzulla said.

Luka Doncic finished with 28 points and 12 rebounds for Dallas, which failed to extend the series after avoiding a sweep with a 38-point win in Game 4. The Mavericks had been 3-0 in Game 5s this post-season, with Doncic scoring at least 31 points in each of them. He said the chest, right knee and left ankle injuries he played through during the finals weren't an excuse for Dallas struggling throughout the series.

"It doesn't matter if I was hurt, how much was I hurt. I was out there," he said. "I tried to play, but I didn't do enough."

Kyrie Irving finished with just 15 points on 5-of-16 shooting and has lost 13 of the last 14 meetings against the Celtics team he left in the summer of 2019 to join the Brooklyn Nets.

Irving thinks better things are ahead for the Mavs.

"I see an opportunity for us to really build our future in a positive manner, where this is almost like a regular thing for us and we're competing for championships," he said.

NBA teams are now 0-157 in postseason series after falling into a 3-0 deficit.

Mavs coach Jason Kidd believes Doncic and his team will grow from this NBA Finals experience.

"I think the first step is just to be in it. I think that's a big thing," he said. "Yes, we lost 4-1, but I thought the group fought against the Celtics and just, unfortunately, we just couldn't make shots when we had to, or we turned the ball over and they took full advantage of that."

Boston never trailed and led by as many as 26, feeding off the energy of the Garden crowd.

Dallas was within 16-15 early before the Celtics closed the first quarter on a 12-3 run that included eight combined points by Tatum and Brown.

The Celtics did it again in the second quarter when the Mavericks trimmed what had been a 15-point deficit to nine. Boston ended the period with a 19-7 spurt that was capped by a half-court buzzer beater by Payton Pritchard — his second such shot of the series — to give Boston a 67-46 halftime lead.

Over the last two minutes of the first and second quarters, the Celtics outscored the Mavericks 22-4.

The Celtics never looked back.

Russell's widow, Jeannine Russell, and his daughter Karen Russell were in TD Garden to salute the newest generation of Celtics champions.

They watched current Celtics stars Tatum and Brown earn their first rings. It was the trade that sent 2008 champions Kevin Garnett and Paul Pierce to Brooklyn in 2013 that netted Boston the draft picks it eventually used to select Brown and Tatum third overall in back-to-back drafts in 2016 and 2017.

The All-Stars came into their own this season, leading a Celtics team that was built around taking and making a high number of 3-pointers, and a defense that rated as the league's best during the regular season.

The duo made it to at least the Eastern Conference finals as teammates four previous times.

They finally reached the finish line in their fifth deep playoff run together.

After both struggling at times offensively in the series, Tatum and Brown hit a groove in Game 5, combining for 31 points and 11 assists in the first half.

It helped bring out all the attributes that made Boston the NBA's most formidable team this postseason — spreading teams out, sharing the ball, and causing havoc on defense. And even chipping a tooth, like Derrick White did after he was landed on by Dereck Lively II.

"I'll lose all my teeth for a championship," White said.

And it put a championship bow on a dizzying stretch for the Celtics, that saw them lose in the finals to the Golden State Warriors in 2022 and then fail to return last season after a Game 7 home loss to the Miami Heat in the conference finals.

Tatum vowed that night to erase the sting of those disappointments.

Standing in a sea of confetti Monday night he was reminded by his 6-year-old son, Deuce, of what he'd accomplished.

"He told me that I was the best in the world," Tatum said. "I said, 'You're damn right I am.'"

Pistons fire Williams after just 1 season

BY TIM REYNOLDS
AP BASKETBALL WRITER

The Detroit Pistons fired coach Monty Williams on Wednesday after just one season that ended with an NBA-worst 14-68 record.

"Decisions like these are difficult to make, and I want to thank Monty for his hard work and dedication," Pistons owner Tom Gores said in a statement. "Coaching has many dynamic challenges that emerge during a season and Monty always handled those with grace. However, after reviewing our performance carefully and assessing our current position as an organization, we will chart a new course moving forward."

Last season was the first in what was a six-year, $78.5 million contract for Williams — one that, at the time, was the richest ever given to an NBA coach. The team started a front office rebuild when the season ended, including the hiring of Trajan Langdon as president of basketball operations, the departure of general manager Troy Weaver and now a vacancy at head coach.

The firing continues a wildly strange run for Williams. In 2021, as coach of the Suns, he went to the NBA Finals, where Phoenix led 2-0 before falling in six games to Milwaukee. In 2022, he was the NBA's coach of the year in runaway voting. In 2023, the Suns fired him and now, in 2024, the Pistons have done the same.

The record for total value of a coaching contract has since been eclipsed; Miami gave Erik Spoelstra an eight-year extension worth $120 million earlier this year.

This was, by any measure, a disaster of a season for the Pistons. They started 2-1 and didn't win another game for the next two months.

A 28-game losing streak, the longest ever in a single season in NBA history and tied for the longest ever when factoring in multiple seasons, turned the season into a debacle. The Pistons' longest winning streak was two games (done on three occasions) and the roster was constantly in flux. Detroit used 31 different players over the course of the season and 36 different starting lineups and lost 39 times by double digits.

The vacancy in Detroit is the third active one in the NBA, with Cleveland and the Los Angeles Lakers still seeking coaches. The Pistons' move comes a week before the start of the NBA draft, with Detroit set to make the fifth overall pick on June 26 — someone that should be able to further enhance a young core led by Cade Cunningham, Jaden Ivey and Jalen Duren.

Those players, all 22 or younger, were the only three Pistons to start at least 60 games this past season.

"We are unwavering in our commitment to bring a championship-caliber team to Detroit," Gores said. "We will be diligent and swift in our search for a new head coach to lead our exciting young core of players and will continue our vision towards building a best-in-class front office that will help us achieve sustainable success."

Mitchell, Boston score 22 each, Clark adds 18 points, 12 rebounds

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Kelsey Mitchell and Aliyah Boston scored 22 points apiece, Caitlin Clark had her second career double-double and the Indiana Fever won their third-straight game with an 88-81 victory over the Washington Mystics on Wednesday night.

Clark had 18 points and a career-high 12 rebounds plus six assists and four steals for the Fever (5-10). She also had six turnovers. NaLyssa Smith added 11 points and Erica Wheeler had nine points off the bench in a big second half.

Indiana, which has won five of seven has its first four-game winning streak at home since August of 2015.

Ariel Atkins had 27 points to lead the Mystics (2-12), who were missing injured starters Brittney Sykes and Shakira Austin. Karlie Samuelson had 16 points and Stephanie Dolson 14.

Down nine entering the fourth quarter, Washington started with a 9-2 run, pulling within 70-68 on a three-point play by Emily Engstler with seven minutes to go. Wheeler quickly answered with a jumper, Clark had a steal that led to Wheeler feeding Mitchell for a layup and then Clark hit a 3 off a Wheeler assist to make it 77-68 with 5:05 left.

Wheeler's pullup at 3:25 pushed the lead to 82-71. Clark's two free throws with 12 seconds remaining wrapped it up.

Indiana never trailed but was never up by more than seven in the first half before settling for a 46-53 lead at the break. The Fever shot 55% and Smith, Mitchell and Boston were all in double figures with Clark adding nine with eight rebounds.

Atkins had 15 and Samuelson 13 for the Mystics, who were 0 for 8 from 3-point range in the first quarter and then drilled six in the second. They finished with 11 on 34 attempts (32%).

It was more of the same in the third quarter until Boston hit a rare and late 3-pointer — her fourth of the season — that pushed the lead to nine. The Fever, who had 10 free throws in the first half, had 11 in the third quarter, helping them to a 68-59 lead.

Florida eliminates Kentucky 15-4 in College World Series

BY ERIC OLSON
ASSOCIATED PRESS

OMAHA, Neb. — Brody Donay hit a grand slam for the first of his two homers, Jac Caglianone became Florida's all-time home run leader and the Gators rode a seven-run first inning to a 15-4 win over Kentucky in a College World Series elimination game Wednesday.

The game had been scheduled for Tuesday night but was postponed because of rain. The Gators (36-29) return to the field Wednesday night to face another Southeastern Conference rival, Texas A&M.

The win over Kentucky was extra satisfying for the Gators because they lost a weekend series at home to the Wildcats a month ago.

"We had to get some sort of revenge, I guess," Caglianone said. "No better opportunity than to do it on this stage. All the guys were pretty pumped up about it."

Kentucky (46-16) went 1-2 in its first CWS appearance after giving up the most runs since it lost 16-6 to LSU on April 13, 2023.

"This is not how you want to end your season, but this is where you want to end your season," Kentucky coach Nick Mingione said. "Just so proud of our group of men. They're unbelievable in every sense of the word. They made history. This hurts. It hurts a lot because this team is fully capable of accomplishing our goal of being national champions. That wasn't the case this year. That's not what the Lord planned."

This will be the second time Florida has had to play two games in a day in this year's NCAA Tournament. The Gators won two games in regionals on June 2. They are 5-0 in elimination games in the tournament.

Florida would need to beat Texas A&M on Wednesday and again Thursday to advance to the best-of-three finals for the second straight year. The Aggies beat Florida 3-2 in their CWS opener Saturday.

The Gators' bats didn't require a wakeup call for the 10 a.m. game. They banged out 15 hits and finished with their third-highest run total of the season.

They rocked Kentucky starter Dominic Niman a second straight time while putting up seven runs in the first. Niman faced six batters in his one-third of an inning. He allowed three hits and was charged with five runs.

Niman gave up six runs in four innings in a 10-1 loss to the Gators last month.

Niman (8-5) was gone by the time Donay came up with the bases loaded in the first. Dale Thomas greeted reliever Cameron O'Brien with a base hit before Donay hit his first pitch to him out to right, barely clearing the fence with the aid of a light north wind on a 66-degree morning. The wind had not blown out at Charles Schwab Field the first five days of the CWS.

Donay's second homer was monstrous, a 414-footer that exited his bat at 118 mph and landed in the last row of the left-field bleachers. The homers were the 13th and 14th of the year for the No. 8 batter in the order, and his five RBIs were a career high.

Pierce Coppola (1-4), who came back in April following back and shoulder injuries that caused him to miss the 2023 season, gave the Gators exactly what they needed in his career-long five innings. The left-hander struck out nine, and the Gators had a five-run lead when his day ended.

"I thought this was the best Pierce had thrown all year long," Florida coach Kevin O'Sullivan said. "He was crisp. Him not throwing in (super regionals) probably helped."

The Gators, who entered the game batting .190 in Omaha, gave their batting order a makeover with four players in new spots.

"Sometimes you make lineup changes and they work out and sometimes they don't," O'Sullivan said. "We were at the point we had to do something because the first two games we weren't very productive."

Most notably, O'Sullivan had Caglianone bat lead-off for the first time in his career. Caglianone, projected to be among the first players taken in the amateur draft, was intentionally walked six times in the regular-season series with the Wildcats.

Kentucky again had no answer for Caglianone. The .400 hitter singled, hit his 35th homer of the season and 75th of his career to pass Matt LaPorta on the school career chart. Caglianone was walked three times, once intentionally.

"I was all in on it — show off the bat, show off the wheels," Caglianone said, smiling. "I embraced the role today."

Panthers watch Cup slip away

Edmonton tops host Florida 5-3 in Game 5

BY TIM REYNOLDS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

SUNRISE, Fla. — Matthew Tkachuk took off at full speed from basically center ice, chasing a puck that had sailed over his head and was heading directly toward an empty net.

He dove. He outstretched his stick. He swatted and barely, just barely, knocked the puck away to keep the Florida Panthers' hope of forcing overtime alive. Problem was, the next person who got to the puck was Connor McDavid — who scored to put the game away.

Such was how Game 5 of the Stanley Cup Final went for the Panthers. Even when they were good, it wasn't good enough. And another long flight to Alberta awaits, with this title series suddenly looking very tight.

The Panthers gave up two power-play goals and a short-handed score, got into a 3-0 hole before trying to rally and wound up falling 5-3 to the Edmonton Oilers in Game 5 of the title series on Tuesday night. It was the second consecutive time Florida was thwarted in a chance to win the Cup, after an 8-1 embarrassment in Edmonton over the weekend.

Game 6 is there on Friday night.

"I'm not pumping tires. I'm not rubbing backs. I don't think we need that at all," Panthers coach Paul Maurice said. "Everybody feels probably exactly the way I do right now. I'm not feeling deflated. Neither's the hockey team. They're not feeling deflated. Little grumpy."

Maybe a lot grumpy.

"We're going to turn the page," forward Evan Rodrigues said. "We're going to learn from this one."

Edmonton Oilers center Connor McDavid, middle, celebrates his third-period goal during Tuesday night's Game 5 of the Stanley Cup Finals against the Florida Panthers in Sunrise, Fla.

Rodrigues and Tkachuk each had a goal and an assist for Florida, and Oliver Ekman-Larsson also scored for the Panthers. Sergei Bobrovsky stopped 19 shots for Florida, which will see its 30-years-and-counting wait for the franchise's first Stanley Cup title last at least three more days.

"We get another crack at it on Friday," Tkachuk said.

McDavid had two goals and two assists to become the first player in NHL history to have back-to-back four-point games in the Stanley Cup Final, and Evan Bouchard added three assists for Edmonton. Connor Brown, Zach Hyman and Corey Perry also had goals for the Oilers while Stuart Skinner stopped 29 shots.

McDavid said it was a total team effort. It was, but it was also another superhuman effort from McDavid, the game's best player who is doing things never before done in the title series.

The four points gave McDavid 42 in these playoffs, the fourth-most in a single postseason in NHL history. The only players ahead of him are the ones everyone would expect: Wayne Gretzky had 47 points in 1985, Mario Lemieux had 44 in 1991 and Gretzky had 43 in 1988.

McDavid will have at least one — and, he hopes, two — games to add to that total. If there is a Game 7, it'll be in Sunrise on Monday night.

"Anytime you're in the same realm as those two, it's always a good thing," McDavid said.

It was the first time in Panthers history that they played a home game with a chance to win the Cup. Another sellout crowd came, some of the paying more than $1,000 apiece for tickets on the secondary market — the crowd pushing Florida's total attendance for the season over 1 million for the first time.

They came to see the trophy.

The Oilers just wouldn't let it happen. Edmonton came into the night having scored 10 of the series' last 11 goals — a 2-0 third period in its Game 3 loss, then the 8-1 romp in Game 4.

And the Oilers picked up right where they left off, with an absolute clinic of special-teams hockey.

Game 5 started just as Game 4 did, with Edmonton getting a short-handed goal. Brown assisted it on Saturday night; he scored it unassisted in this one, and the Oilers were on their way. Florida took a penalty — interference by Niko Mikkola — as time expired in the first and it proved costly.

Hyman made it 2-0 with two seconds left in the second-period-opening power play, and McDavid pushed Edmonton's lead to 3-0 from a ridiculously tough angle that he made look easy three minutes later.

The three-goal lead has been infallible in the Stanley Cup Final for almost two decades; no team had lost after leading by three in a title-series game since Edmonton against Carolina in 2006. Every team since then, 39-0 in such games.

Make it 4-0. But the Panthers made it interesting.

It was 4-2 by the end of the second, Tkachuk and Rodrigues sandwiching goals around Perry's first of the playoffs — set up by a brilliant pass from McDavid. Ekman-Larsson scored early in the third, but the equalizer never came.

"Never want to put yourself behind the 8-ball," Rodrigues said. "We've got to win one game. Simple as that. Go up there, got to win one game. That's our mindset. That's what we're going to go do."

Cincinnati 5th-year wide receiver Higgins signs 1-year franchise tender

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Cincinnati Bengals wide receiver Tee Higgins signed his one-year franchise tender for the 2024 season on Monday.

However, his long-term future with the team remains in doubt.

The fifth-year wideout received the franchise tag in February and didn't participate in recent organized team workouts, including last week's three-day minicamp.

Higgins will make $21.8 million — the designated franchise tag value for receivers this upcoming season — and the Bengals will have at least one more season with Ja'Marr Chase and Higgins as one of the NFL's top wide-out duos, with a healthy Joe Burrow throwing to them.

If the 25-year-old Higgins and the Bengals don't come together on a long-term deal before July 15, he can become a free agent next March and be eligible to sign with any team.

"I'm excited to move forward with Tee," Bengals coach Zac Taylor said in a statement. "He's done a great job handling his situation, and we are happy to get him back in the fold so we can start working toward a great 2024 season. The locker room will be excited to have him back around."

Since his second season in 2021, Higgins has played in the shadow of Chase, who is expected to get a long-term contract extension in the neighborhood of Justin Jefferson's four-year, $140 million deal with the Minnesota Vikings.

Whenever Cincinnati adds Chase's next contract to the five-year, $275 million extension Burrow signed before the 2023 season, the team is not expected to offer a long-term deal to its No. 2 receiver.

A second-round draft pick in 2020 — Burrow was the top overall pick in that draft — Higgins has 257 catches for 3,684 yards and 24 touchdowns, including back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons in 2021 and '22. He was key part of the Bengals drive to the Super Bowl after the 2021 season.

He finished with 656 yards and five TDs last season while struggling with a rib injury.

AFC North to be featured on in-season 'Hard Knocks'

BY TOM WITHERS
ASSOCIATED PRESS

The AFC North is ready for its closeup.

The division best known for heated rivalries and star quarterbacks will be featured on HBO's "Hard Knocks" TV series this season. It's the first time the Emmy Award-winning series has chronicled an entire division.

Last season, the AFC North's four teams — the Baltimore Ravens, Cincinnati Bengals, Cleveland Browns and Pittsburgh Steelers — all finished with winning records.

With QB s Lamar Jackson, Joe Burrow,Deshaun Watson and Russell Wilson, who was traded from Denver to Pittsburgh in the offseason, there are plenty of storylines in the North along with a reputation for tight, testy games.

"Hard Knocks: In Season with the AFC North" will debut on Dec. 3 and run through the rest of the regular season and playoffs.

Jackson is coming off a second MVP win, but came up short of a first Super Bowl trip. Burrow played just 10 games last season before undergoing wrist surgery. Watson is entering a make-or-break third season in Cleveland, and Wilson is hoping to restart his career with Justin Fields in his shadow.

The Ravens were the first team featured on the original "Hard Knocks" in 2001. The Bengals' training camp was featured in 2009 and 2013, and the Browns in 2018.

This will be the Steelers' first appearance on the popular show that takes fans deep inside the locker room, huddle and inner workings of NFL teams.

The series has expanded to highlight the league's offseason, training camp, regular season and postseason. The New York Giants' offseason will be the first chronicled, and the Chicago Bears will be featured in training camp as they try to break in rookie quarterback Caleb Williams, the No. 1 pick in this year's draft.

Douglass wins 100 free at U.S. swim trials

BY PAUL NEWBERRY
AP NATIONAL WRITER

INDIANAPOLIS — Kate Douglass won the women's 100-meter freestyle at the U.S. Olympic swimming trials on Wednesday night, with Simone Manuel claiming a relay spot with a fourth-place finish after bouncing back from overtraining syndrome.

Manuel, the first Black woman to capture an individual swimming gold when she tied for the top spot in this event at the 2016 Rio de Janeiro Games, was denied a chance to swim the 100 free at the Paris Games.

Torri Huske took the second individual spot.

In perhaps the surest bet of the trials, Katie Ledecky claimed her third victory at Lucas Oil Stadium with another dominating performance in the 1,500 freestyle.

Ledecky added to her victories in the 200 and 400 free, though she doesn't plan to swim the shorter event in Paris. She's also a huge favorite to take the 800 free title before she leaves Indy.

Ledecky touched in 15 minutes, 37.35 seconds, more than a half-lap ahead of runner-up Katie Grimes at 15:57.77.

"I was hoping to go a little faster, but I'll take it," said Ledecky, whose six individual gold medals are already the most for any female swimmer in Olympic history.

Grimes earned her second individual event in Paris, adding to her victory in the 400 individual medley. She'll be swimming indoors and outdoors at the Olympics, also claiming a spot in the 10-kilometer open water race.

In the 100 free, Douglass was only fourth at the turn, but she powered to the finish for a winning time of 52.56. Huske finished at 52.93, while Gretchen Walsh faded from the lead at the midway point to touch third in 53.13.

Manuel was next at 53.25, with fifth-place finisher Abbey Weitzeil (53.70) also likely headed to her third Olympics as a relay option.

Manuel will have another chance to qualify for an individual Olympic event in the 50 freestyle, but she was clearly moved just to be on a relay.

Manuel won two golds and two silvers at the Rio Games, a breakout performance for swimmers of color in a largely white sport.

Douglass had built on a bronze medal in the 200 individual medley at Tokyo to become one of America's most versatile swimmers.

She won a total of 14 medals at the last three world championships in everything from the freestyle to the breaststroke to the individual medley to the relays.

Now, she's headed back to the Olympics.

Pittsburgh third baseman Ke'Bryan Hayes rounds the bases after hitting a solo home run off Cincinnati starting pitcher Nick Lodolo on Tuesday during the seventh inning in Pittsburgh.

Reynolds’ late homer decides Keller-Greene duel as Reds fall 1-0

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PITTSBURGH — Bryan Reynolds hit a go-ahead home run in the bottom of the eighth inning and the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Cincinnati Reds 1-0 on Wednesday.

Reynolds pounced on an 80 mph changeup from Nick Martinez (2-5) and sent it just over the wall in center field for his 10th homer of the season as the Pirates took two of three from Cincinnati. The blast extended Reynolds’ hitting streak to 17 games, the longest by a Pirate since 2019. He is batting .357 during the streak, with three home runs and 10 RBIs. The surge comes during a time of year when Reynolds typically figures things out. He’s a career .345 hitter in June.

Colin Holderman (3-0) retired the three batters he faced in the eighth after coming on for a brilliant Mitch Keller. David Bednar worked a perfect ninth for his 16th save. The teams combined for just five hits on a steamy day at PNC Park in which Keller and Hunter Greene put on a show. Keller allowed two hits — singles to Jonathan India and Santiago Espinal — over seven-plus innings while striking out seven. The 28-year-old has pitched at least five innings in 46 straight starts, the longest active streak in the majors.

The Reds failed to get a runner to third against Keller and did little against Holderman and Bednar.

Hunter Greene matched Keller pitch for pitch into the seventh. The hard-throwing 24-year-old right-hander struck out nine in 6 1/3 innings. Greene didn’t allow a walk, though he did hit two batters to boost his season total to 11, the most in the majors.

PIRATES 4, REDS 1
Rookie Paul Skenes pitched one-run ball over six innings to win his fourth straight decision and lead the Pittsburgh Pirates over the Cincinnati Reds 4-1 on Monday night. Skenes (4-0) allowed six hits in six innings with seven strikeouts and one walk, lowering his ERA to 2.29. The 22-year-old right-hander has 53 strikeouts and seven walks in 39 1/3 innings, and the Pirates are 6-1 in his starts.

Skenes reached 100 mph with five pitches and has thrown 65 pitches of 100 mph or higher. The second-most in the major leagues is the Los Angeles Angels’ José Soriano with 36, according to MLB Statcast.

David Bednar pitched a 1-2-3 ninth for his 15th save in 18 chances. He has converted 14 in a row after blowing three of his first four.

After a 30-minute rain delay at the start, Spencer Steer in an RBI double in the first.

Bryan Reynolds hit a pair of doubles for the Pirates, extending his hitting streak to 15 games.

Pittsburgh opened a six-game homestand by winning for the third time in four games. The Reds have lost five of seven. The Reds’ Elly De La Cruz had three hits and stole his major league-leading 37th base.

REDS 2, PIRATES 1

Nick Lodolo allowed one run in seven innings to win a fifth straight start, Santiago Espinal hit a two-run homer and the Cincinnati Reds beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 on Tuesday night.

Lodolo (8-2) struck out eight without issuing a walk and gave up four hits. The left-hander has been tagged for seven runs in 30 1/3 innings in five starts since May 27.

“I thought, overall, I just felt in control,” Lodolo said. “I just want to go out there and give us a good chance to win. ... The goal is for me to go out there and get myself in position to win. So, tonight was definitely a good one.”

Espinal put the Reds ahead in the fifth inning, driving a fastball from Bailey Falter just over a leaping Bryan Reynolds at the wall and 376 feet into the left field bleachers.

Alexis Diaz struck out one in a perfect ninth inning for his 16th save.

Falter (3-5) surrendered two runs on seven hits, going seven innings with three strikeouts and two walks.

In Game 1 of the 1954 World Series, the then-New York Giants hosted the Cleveland Indians, who had won 111 games in the regular season and were strong favorites in the postseason. The score was 2-2 in the top of the eighth inning. Cleveland's Vic Wertz faced reliever Don Liddle with none out, Larry Doby on second and Al Rosen on first.

With the count 1-2, Wertz smashed a fastball to deep center field. In an average park, with an average center fielder, Wertz would have homered, or at least had an easy triple. But the center field wall in the eccentrically shaped Polo Grounds was more than 450 feet away. And there was nothing close to average about the skills of Willie Mays.

Decades of taped replays have not diminished the astonishment of watching Mays race toward the wall, his back to home plate, reach out his glove and haul in the drive. What followed was also extraordinary: Mays managed to turn around while still moving forward, heave the ball to the infield and prevent Doby from scoring even as Mays spun to the ground. Mays himself would proudly point out that "the throw" was as important as "the catch."

"Soon as it got hit, I knew I'd catch the ball," Mays told biographer James S. Hirsch, whose book came out in 2010.

"All the time I'm running back, I'm thinking, 'Willie, you've got to get this ball back to the infield.'"

"The Catch" was seen and heard by millions through radio and the then-emerging medium of television, and Mays became one of the first Black athletes with mass media appeal. He was a guest star on "The Donna Reed Show," "Bewitched" and other sitcoms. He inspired a handful of songs and was named first in Terry Cashman's 1980s novelty hit, "Talkin' Baseball (Willie, Mickey & The Duke)," a tribute in part to the brief era when New York had three future Hall of Famers in center: Mays, Mantle of the Yankees and Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Giants went on to sweep the Indians, with many citing Mays' play as the turning point. The impact was so powerful that 63 years later, in 2017, baseball named the World Series Most Valuable Player after him even though it was his only moment of postseason greatness. He appeared in three other World Series, in 1951 and 1962 for the Giants and 1973 for the Mets, batting just .239 with no home runs in the four series. (His one postseason homer was in the 1971 National League playoffs, when the Giants lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates).

But "The Catch" and his achievements during the regular season were greatness enough. Yankees and Dodgers fans may have fiercely challenged Mays' eminence, but Mantle and Snider did not. At a 1995 baseball writers dinner in Manhattan, with all three at the dais, Mantle raised the eternal question: Which of the three was better?

"We don't mind being second, do we, Duke?" he added.

Between 1954 and 1966, Mays drove in 100 or more runs 10 times, scored 100 or more 12 times, hit 40 or more homers six times, more than 50 homers twice and led the league in stolen bases four times. His numbers might have been bigger. He missed most of 1952 and all of 1953 because of military service, quite possibly costing him the chance to overtake Ruth's career home run record of 714, an honor that first went to Henry Aaron, then Mays' godson, Barry Bonds. He likely would have won more Gold Gloves if the award had been established before 1956. He insisted he would have led the league in steals more often had he tried.

"I am beyond devastated and overcome with emotion. I have no words to describe what you mean to me," Bonds wrote on Instagram.

Mays was fortunate in escaping serious injury and avoiding major scandal, but he endured personal and professional troubles. His first marriage, to Margherite Wendell, ended in divorce. He was often short of money in the pre-free agent era, and he received less for endorsements than Mantle and other white athletes. He was subject to racist insults and his insistence that he was an entertainer, not a spokesman, led to his being chastised by Jackie Robinson and others for not contributing more to the civil rights movement. He didn't care for some of his managers and didn't always appreciate a fellow idol, notably Aaron, his greatest contemporary.

Sports writer Barney Kremenko has often been credited with nicknaming him "The Say Hey Kid," referring to Mays' spirited way of greeting his teammates.

He was born in Westfield, Alabama, in 1931, the son of a Negro League player who wanted Willie to do the same, playing catch with him and letting him sit in the dugout.
